Good Agricultural Practices (GAPs) class and mock audit

GAPs training, lunch, and on-farm mock audit at Whitelock Community Farm

8:30 am to 2:30 pm, Tuesday September 12, 2017

Meet at: West Pavilion, Baltimore City Community College, 3100 Towanda Ave, Baltimore, MD

Training description: Good Agricultural Practices (GAPs) is a voluntary food safety certification program for farmers who produce fresh fruit and vegetables. This GAPs class will be tailored towards urban farmers and farmers who direct-market their produce.

The morning will be a classroom session. In the afternoon we will visit Whitelock Community Farm to hear about their journey towards GAP certification and see how MDA staff would conduct a farm audit for the GAPs certification process.

Registration and cost: Participation is capped at 25, so please register online at <http://ter.ps/urbangaps17>. The fee for the program is $15 and will cover lunch and refreshments. All other costs are covered by a NIFA USDA grant (award #2016-70017-25503).

Future Harvest Beginning Farmer Trainees should contact Sarah Sohn

sarah@futureharvestcasa.org for a sponsored registration code.

One work-study scholarship is available for a participant willing to arrive early to help. To apply please contact Neith Little by August 22: ngliddle@umd.edu 410-856-1850 x123

For more information, contact Neith Little, ngliddle@umd.edu 410-856-1850 x123. The program is open to all. Please direct requests for accommodations to Neith Little by Sept 5.
